

Vinod Nambudiri, MD MBA, FACP FAAD

Dr. Nambudiri is a physician at Brigham and Women's Hospital and assistant professor at Harvard Medical School in Boston, Massachusetts. He is an active clinician, medical educator, and researcher. His areas of interest include physician leadership and innovation. He has authored over 100 peer reviewed publications and spoken at multiple national conferences on topics related to clinical medicine and medical education. He has previously served in a variety of leadership roles in medical education including as a Residency Program Director for an ACGME-accredited Transitional Year residency program. He is a graduate of Harvard College, Harvard Medical School, and Harvard Business School and is board certified in both Internal Medicine and Dermatology.